

TYPES AND THEMES

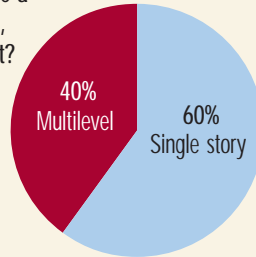

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

Many leisure pools still don't have play structures, and most that do have simpler, single-story models without themes.

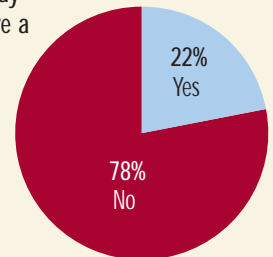

Do you have a play structure?

If you do have a play structure, what type is it?

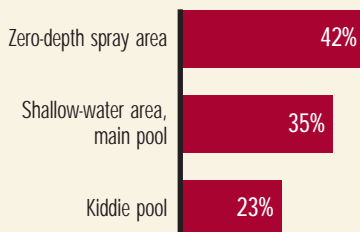

Does your play structure have a theme?

TYPES AND THEMES

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

Where is your play structure located?

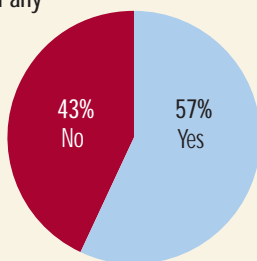

TRAINING AND MAINTENANCE

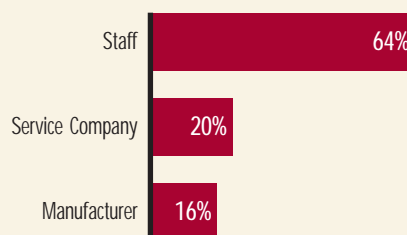

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

A slim majority of operators say their lifeguards have received special training for watching play structures. Maintenance, meanwhile, seems to be an issue for even more facilities.

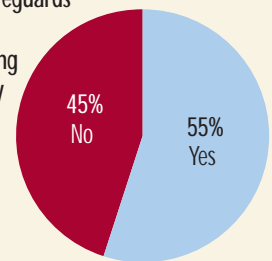

Have you had any maintenance issues with your play structure?

If so, who fixed your maintenance problem?

Have your lifeguards received any special training to watch play structures?

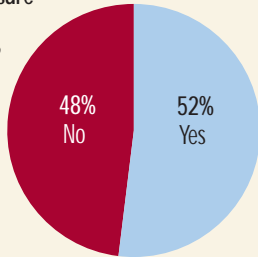

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

LOBBIES & CENTERS

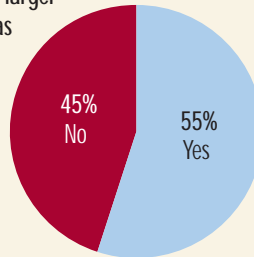

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

Experts say the trend is for leisure pools to offer grander entrances and structures. But operators are nearly split on the question of having indoor lobbies and being part of a larger facility.

Does your leisure pool have an indoor lobby?

Is it part of a larger facility, such as a community center?

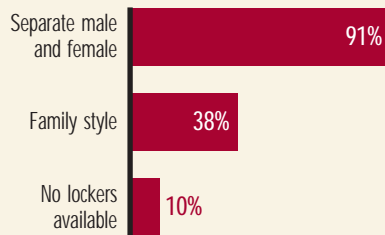

LOCKER ROOMS & AMENITIES

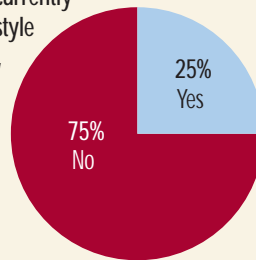

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

Traditional locker rooms still rule, but family-style versions are catching up. Meanwhile, most operators see the value in meeting and birthday rooms.

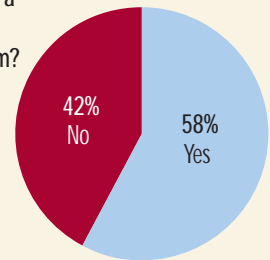

What types of rooms do you have?

If you don't currently have family-style locker rooms, do you plan to add them in the next five years?

Do you have a meeting or birthday room?

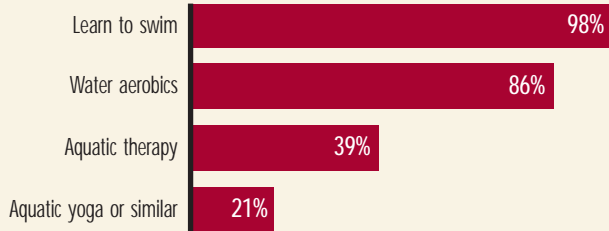

PROGRAM TYPES & OFFERINGS

LEISURE POOL SURVEY 2007

Nearly all leisure pools offer learn-to-swim programs, but far fewer delve into aquatic yoga or therapy. Programming before or after recreational swim is a popular option.

What types of programs do you offer?

How do you offer aquatics programs at your leisure pool?

